

The Human Lottery

"Ah, if only I were beautiful how happy life would be."

Many a forlorn maid has said this as she looked into the mirror. For beauty women have sacrificed home, love and friends. It is the one possession in the lottery of human life which women would not refuse.

BRADFIELD'S Female Regulator

for young girls on the threshold of womanhood, is particularly valuable. When they become pale and languid, the eyes dull, aching head, feet and hands cold, appetite gone or abnormal, obstructed periods and painful menses, and their system generally run down, they need building up, and their blood needs cleansing. Bradfield's Female Regulator for women is particularly valuable and useful, owing to its tonic properties to build up the system, and as a regulator of the menstrual flow. Painful, obstructed and suppressed menstruation permanently relieved and all diseases peculiar to her genital organs are cured by it. Regulator clears the complexion, brightens the eye, sharpens the appetite, removes muddy and blotched conditions of the skin and cures sick headache to a certainty by removing the cause. Of druggists $1.00 per bottle. "Perfect Health for Women" is free and will be mailed on receipt of address.

Do You Want to Yawn?

Feel cold shiverings, aching in the bones, lack of energy, headache, and great depression? These symptoms may be followed by violent headache, high fever, extreme nervousness, a condition known as malaria. Herbine cures it. Take it before the disease gets a fair hold, though it will work a cure in any stage. J. A. Hopkins, Manchester, Kan., writes: "I have used your great medicine, Herbine, for several years. There is nothing better for malaria, chills and fever, headache, biliousness, and for a blood-purifying tonic, there is nothing as good." 50c at W. J. Sedberry.

"The Twentieth Century Home" is forging ahead in popularity. Every month the table of contents is large, timely and varied; the illustrations profuse and beautiful, and the general appearance of the pages most artistic. For October we note among the illustrated articles "Women Who Conquer Beasts," by Lucia Trevor Lee; "The Splendor of the Wealthy Russians," by Thorndike Colton; "Some Curious Bibles," by Lillian I. Harris; "Southampton's Floral Parade," by H. H. Boyesen, 2d; "The Owl Settlers of the Dakota Prairies," by Herbert K. Job; "Some Romances of the British Peerage," by Lady Violet Greville; "Olive-Orchards and Olive-Oil Making," by Debora Otis, and a charming account of the two little Italian Princesses by Grace Ellery Channing. M. V. O'Shea has a paper which should be read by every parent and teacher in the land. It is called "The Treatment of Evil in the Training of Children," and advocates a positive instruction in wholesome activities rather than a negative treatment of vice and evil. Rafford Pyke contributes his delightful monthly essay. This time the subject is "Retropective Jealousy." Elizabeth M. Gilmer continues her series with "Why Women Fail as Mothers." The Home Departments are as useful and valuable as ever.

Laziness a Disease Caused by Hookworms.

Washington.—Dr. Charles Wardell Stiles, Chief of the Division of Zoology in the Public Health and Marine Hospital Service, who a year ago attracted general attention by declaring the hookworm to be the parasite of laziness, will soon make another report on the same subject, the intervening year having been devoted to further research.

He is firmly convinced that the hookworm is fully as dangerous as malaria. It kills, saps life and energy, loses the time of workmen, plays havoc with the domestic affairs of a household, and at the same time is little understood by the medical profession.

"Sufferers from hookworm," Dr. Stiles says, "show many symptoms, not all alike by any means. The face of a confirmed sufferer has an anxious, stupid expression and is sometimes bloated. The pupils of the eyes are frequently dilated, and the eyes are dull, dry and usually of a chalky white. Sometimes there is a stupid, fish-like stare that is hard to describe, very similar to that noticed in cases of extreme alcoholic intoxication.

"A perverted and generally ravenous appetite is one of the symptoms of the disease. Patients are especially fond of pickles. I have seen boys and girls in advanced stages of the disease greedily devour entire bottles of pickles. Others want salt or lemons, or to chew coffee or drink large quantities of coffee without sugar or milk. The disease was often encountered in South Carolina, Georgia and other Southern States.

Crowds Going to the Circus.

Intense interest has been aroused in this community by the announcement that Ringling Brothers' immense circus is to exhibit in Shreveport, La., Saturday, October 29th. Several big excursions will go from this vicinity and local people will be well represented at the big show. Those who go from here should make every effort to arrive in time to see the magnificent new free street parade, which is given in the morning preceding the opening performance. Three miles of parade glories are divided into thirty sections, and each section is a show in itself—a parade such as the world has never seen before. In this wonderful display are shown 108 beautiful dens, lairs and cages of rare wild animals, a herd of forty big and little elephants, 650 horses, and over 1,000 people. One section of the procession is devoted to magnificent and costly floats, representing Germany, Russia, England, France, India, Persia, Scotland, the United States and other countries. The performance that follows, and which includes the superb spectacular production of Jerusalem and the Crusades, is the most magnificent display of arenic wonders ever presented by any amusement enterprise in America. The menagerie is filled to overflowing with rare beasts and birds, including the only baby elephant bred and successfully raised in the United States, the only rhinoceros in captivity and the last living pair of giraffes.

Beautiful Complexions

Are spoiled by using any kind of preparation that fills the pores of the skin. The best way to secure a clear complexion, free from sallowness, pimples, blotches, etc., is to keep the liver in good order. An occasional dose of Herbine will cleanse the bowels, regulate the liver, and so establish a clear, healthy complexion. 50c at W. J. Sedberry.

THE IDEAL WOMAN.

Men differ as to religion and politics, but in their ideal of woman they stand firmly united. With one accord they declare that the ideal woman is the one who devotes herself above all things to the ways of her household, and so exclusive must this devotion be that one of the most frequent objections to woman suffrage is that even the fifteen minutes a year necessary to the casting of her ballot would seriously interfere with her home duties.

It has always seemed a detraction from the dignity of marriage that a wife's duties were so closely allied to those of a valet or a household servant. A man would not seek inspiration after a hard day's work in the society of either, and yet we find men saying that women best adorn the home but we observe that in general men avoid it for as many hours a day as possible.

Has it come to this then that men do not really care for the ideal which they profess to cherish? They flock in numbers to applaud woman as an actress, and as a lecturer. The less she conforms to their ideal the keener seems their desire for her society.

This very week in Washington, the Geographical Congress is proud to honor Mrs. Fanny Bullock Workman, who holds the world's record among women for high mountain ascents. She has scaled a number of the giants of the Himalayas, which have never been climbed by any man excepting her husband. What could be more foreign to the Cherished Ideal than mountain climbing, and yet here is a case where by trailing that ideal in the very dust Mrs. Workman finds herself the trusted friend and companion of her husband and the honored speaker at a Geographical Congress. What then is the status of the much vaunted Ideal? The honors seem to go the other way. It is absurd to expect women as a class to devote their lives to fulfilling man's ideal only to find the finished product a drug on the market.

A Judicious Inquiry.

A well known traveling man who visits the drug trade says he has often heard druggists inquire of customers who asked for a cough medicine, whether it was wanted for a child or for an adult, and if for a child they almost invariably recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The reason for this is that they know there is no danger from it and that it always cures. There is not the least danger in giving it, and for coughs, colds and croup it is unsurpassed. I was all run down from nervousness and overwork and had to resign my position and take a rest. I found that I was not gaining my strength and health as fast as I could wish, and as your Wine of Cardui was recommended as such a good medicine for the ills of our sex, I bought a bottle and began using it. I was satisfied with the results from the use of the first bottle, and took three more and then found I was restored to good health and strength and able to take up my work with renewed vigor. I consider it a fine tonic and excellent for worn-out, nervous condition, and am pleased to endorse it.

Be Merciful to Your Beasts.

Hardly any class of animals suffer so much from ignorance, carelessness and cruelty on the part of drivers as the horse. Many of the people who hire horses know nothing about driving or caring for them; many others, since they do not own the horse, care nothing about any injury to him provided they do not have to pay for it, and still another class take pleasure in driving him at the top of his speed as long as he can go, regardless of his distress. Then there are the drunken drivers, reckless of everything, the drivers who want to race with everybody who comes along, and the people out for a "good time," and whose idea is to "let 'er go." There are the people who overdrive, who do not water, who water when the horse is overheated, who do not blanket, and others who commit all remaining kinds of offences against horseflesh—the one idea being that since the horse is not their own it don't make much difference. The only remedy is to educate public opinion up to the point where people will treat horses well for the horses' sakes, and see to it that others do so also.—In Our Dumb Animals.
